How to Join TransformSC’s Network of Schools

TransformSC accepts applications from schools with innovative approaches to achieving the Profile of the SC Graduate for every student, every teacher, every classroom, every day. Whether your school is planning for innovation or has already implemented changes school-wide, we encourage schools at all levels and stages of development to apply.

1. Submit a three-year innovation plan and the culture of innovation self-assessment. The innovation plan must include:
   - At least three specific, measurable goals for innovation at your school over the next three years that ensure more students will graduate college-, career-, and citizenship-ready, as defined by the Profile of the South Carolina Graduate;
   - A brief description of any innovative work currently underway at your school that helps achieve the goals;
   - An outline of the steps your school will undertake in the next three years to implement or increase innovation and meet the goals;
   - An explanation of your school’s ideas about evidence that will be collected to measure the innovation’s impact and goal attainment;
   - A process for regularly engaging and updating supporters, including your legislative delegation, local board of education, parents, students, the business community and appropriate agencies.

2. If your innovation plan includes the necessary information, we’ll schedule a school visit with our staff. If not, we’ll work with you to improve the plan!

3. Depending on your innovation plan, we’ll ask you to complete other self-assessments (project-based learning, blended learning, continuous assessment and/or competency-based progression) and send us more information about your school, including evidence that your plan is supported by the school community and other stakeholders.

4. Your school will sign a partnership agreement to join TransformSC.
